GOVERNOR SULZER IS IMPEACHED BY TAMMANY SOLONS

Legislature Votes to Try Him After All Night Filibuster.

WIFE SEKS TO CLEAR HIM

Declares She Did the Speculating in Wall Street Without Governor's Knowledge; Tammany Has Three More Votes Than Needed to Win.

United Press Telegram. ALBANY, Aug. 13.—With three votes more than needed, the Tammany-controlled Legislature early this morning impeached Governor William Sulzer for "alleged high crimes and misdemeanors" in connection with his campaign. After an all-night session, the roll call on the Levy resolution was taken at 5:14 A. M., the vote resulting 79 to 45.

Close on the heels of the impeachment of Sulzer came the sensational statement of Mrs. Sulzer, who took upon herself all of the responsibility for the governor's operations in Wall Street. She asserted that her husband knew nothing of the stock speculation; that she alone was responsible for them.

The charges will be tried before the Senate and the Judiciary. Members of the Judiciary are: Chief Justice Edgar M. Cullen and Associates William E. Werber, William Barlett, Frank Hancock, Emory A. Chase, Fred Collins, William C. Cullen, John J. Hogan and Martin L. Miller.

Minority Leader Harold Hittman made the statement of Mrs. Sulzer's action, following which a motion was made to adjourn. It was voted down and Majority Leader Levy spoke three hours, killing time until the arrival of a Brooklyn representative.

As soon as the last Tammany man entered the hall and the leaders were certain that they had a sufficient number of votes to insure the passage of the Levy resolution, they accused the leading members, and the vote was taken. It was 5:08 A. M. when the roll call started. Ten minutes later Governor Sulzer stood impeached. The resolution adjourned at 7:45 to meet at 11 when the charges will go to the Senate.

Friends of Governor Sulzer assert that he will remain in the executive office until after the action of the Senate. They say that the provisions of the present state constitution do not provide for the impeachment of a governor and that in this respect it is inadequate for the needs of his enemies. The constitution provides for the impeachment of judiciary officers only.

Lieutenant Governor Glynn this morning declined to take any stand in the controversy. Sulzer's action is uncertain. Even his friends claim to be in ignorance of his intentions. It is believed, however, that he will decline to withdraw from office, and that he will not move over the seal, and the more radical of his friends assert that he will call out the militia.

The governor remained up all night, and took the result of the Legislature's action calmly. He refused to make a statement, other than that he will fight the case to the Supreme Court of the state and thence to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon the Senate and Assembly leaders announced that neither house will meet before 2 o'clock.

TONG WAR THREATENS

Chinese in Pittsburgh Seek Alleged Abductor and His Companion.

United Press Telegram. PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13.—Spurred on by the offer of a reward of $1,000, hundreds of members of the Hop Sing Tong, one of the most powerful of the Chinese secret societies in this country, are searching far and wide today for Ching Yuen Gie and his wife. The first Chinese couple to obtain a license in Pennsylvania under the new eugenic law.

Ching Yuen Gie in reality is said to be Ching Que, who is wanted in San Francisco for the abduction of Ho Hui Sue, who is charged with being a bigamist. The woman's husband is a powerful leader of the Tong and he has sent notice broadcast for members of the society to be on the lookout for him.

An acute situation exists in the Tong, it being alleged by some of the members that others warned the pair of the search in time for them to make their escape.

New York's Governor Under Fire.

HEALTH OFFICER INSISTS ON FLUSHING THE MAINS

Hotter Taken Steps to Prevent Spread of Typhoid Fever From Sewers.

For the purpose of guarding against an outbreak of typhoid fever such as occurred in Connellsville earlier in the year, Health Officer Barthold Hotter this morning requested the Connellsville Water Company to flush their mains on Second and Eleventh streets, West Side. The work will likely be done today.

During the last few days two cases of fever were reported to the board of health. Both patients reside on Second street, West Side, where the mains are low, and it is the belief of the health officer that the water supply might be responsible.

Hotter says that the town is remarkably free from contagious diseases for this time of the year. Aside from the two cases of typhoid reported, there is one case of scarlet fever, a case of diphtheria and one case of typhoid fever.

LARCENY CHARGE DISMISSED

Squire Declines Licensure After Did Not Meet Wagon of Coal.

Charged with stealing a wagon of coal, valued at 72 cents, Steve Martin of Lehigh was arrested by Constable William Holland of Dunbar township and given a hearing before Squire P. M. Butterman of the West Side last night. After hearing both sides of the case it was dismissed and the costs were placed on the prosecutor, Mike Renin.

Martin and Renin work in the mine at Lehigh, No. 1. The latter had loaded a wagon of coal and was running it out of the mine when it was jumped by the truck spilling the coal. Renin was slightly injured and did not return for several days.

In the meantime Martin had received orders to load the coal and Renin's check was turned into the office by the brokers. He will be paid on pay day.

Renin also brought suit against John Lahofsky, a miner, for larceny of a lantern. The case was postponed by Constable Holland and will be given a hearing before Squire Butterman last evening. The case was settled by the defendant returning the lantern and paying the costs.

The condition of Robert Gadda of Dunbar, who was injured while riding on the mountains Saturday night, is improved and hopes for his recovery are entertained.

Assistant Storekeeper Hurt. Edward Birch, assistant storekeeper of the Baltimore & Ohio, was painfully injured this morning while unloading lumber. One of the boards he was carrying slipped from his grasp, cutting a deep gash over the right eye.

Former Drops Dead. When returning from the barn to his house, William Miller, a well-known farmer of near West Newton, dropped dead Monday night. He was 60 years old.

SEPARATED FIFTY YEARS BY THE WAR, BROTHERS TO MEET

William Marshall Fought With Union Troops, Eugene With Rebels.

LEAVES SOON FOR COLUMBUS

Laurel Hill Man Will Dispose of Possessions Here to Join Brother in Ohio City; a Virginian by Birth, but His Heart Was for the North.

Brothers who have not clasped hands since the memorable struggles of the Civil War, when one fought under the standard of the Confederacy and the other with the Union, expect to meet soon in Columbus, O. As soon as he disposes of his possessions here, William D. Marshall of Laurel Hill, will join his brother in that city.

Marshall was in town today, on business, and was in the city at the beginning of the War of Secession. Members of his family were of southern stock, both parents having been born and raised in the land of cotton and tobacco, and they favored the cause of their native state.

In common with many others, however, young William saw the struggle from a different angle. He was opposed to slavery and deep his heart felt that the cause espoused by Abraham Lincoln was right; the one he should support. Members of the family couldn't understand his reasoning, and were angry when they learned that he had joined the Union troops.

In the meantime, Marshall's brother, Eugene, enlisted under the Stars and Bars and fought with honor throughout the conflict. On several occasions the rival armies, of which the pair were parts, camped within a short distance of each other, but the boys did not meet.

After the war, William returned to his Virginia home, but was disappointed with the condition of affairs there and left soon after. The farm was not the same place. It had been ravaged by the troops of both sides, and the inhabitants of the community were virtually ruined.

After traveling for several years, Marshall came to Connellsville, remaining here for some time, and then purchased the Laurel Hill farm. That was 30 years ago, and Mr. Marshall has remained there almost continuously. He married and raised a large family, the members of which are now grown.

Following the death of Mrs. Marshall nine years ago, the Virginia determined to locate his brother, and recently his search was successful. As soon as the property is disposed of, Mr. Marshall will go to Columbus. Later he intends to visit the scenes of his childhood in Virginia.

DOES THE SMELL OF A GOAT CONSTITUTE A LEGAL NUISANCE?

A Smithfield Justice of the peace has been faced with the question whether two Angora goats can be classed as a nuisance because their odor annoys the neighbors. He passed the question along to Health Officer Costello, who still has it under advisement.

"Now if it were skunks," commented the judge, "I could give expert opinion. The late Dr. H. B. Matholt once told me that a skunk's odor was not only wholesome, but a preventive of disease."

WEST PENN PICNIC GRAND SUCCESS; MANY ATTEND

Big Crowd Present Despite Showers That Fell Early in Morning; West Penn Girl Uninjured.

The first day's picnic of the West Penn employees at Oakford park yesterday was a great success, despite that rain threatened to mar the day. Not an accident was recorded. An entertaining program of amusements was carried out by the committee on arrangements. One of the features was the appearance of the "West Penn Girl" in her possession a $250 gold piece, which was to have been awarded to the young man selecting her with the salutation, "You are the West Penn Girl." Miss Myrtle Wainwright, of Uniontown, was the young woman, and although she visited every part of the ground she was not accented. Her rendition of the part was clever. She had the prize fastened about her neck by a gold chain. This was plainly visible but none thought that she was the young woman for whom they were searching.

Many amusing incidents occurred during the progress of the luncheon game, the players keeping the large crowd in good humor. The chess resulted in a victory for the married men; score 4 to 1. C. I. Colton captured the winning position, the battery of which was Bert Fair, catcher, and J. H. Colton, pitcher.

The human burden race was won by the team led by Fred Golden. The team was composed of Colton, Kaplan, Stahl and Mitchell. It was opposed by Captain Wilkerson's team, which was made up of Weaver, Brown and Mack. Broke.

The prize walk or "pavilion" was won by Miss Nell Mench of Greensburg, finishing with Philip Apple, and C. F. Harner of Uniontown, whose partner was Miss Ida Blitzer. The woman's prize was a pair of shoes, a silk umbrella. The other contests resulted as follows:

Baseball throw, men over 16 years of age, Herbert Burd, Uniontown; prize, gold cuff buttons.

Fifteen yard backward dash, men over 18 years of age, E. V. Kaplan; prize, gold cuff buttons.

Fifty yard dash, boys under 18 years, William Stewart, South Connellsville; prize, pocket knife.

Peanut race, ladies over 16 years of age, Margaret Murphy, Uniontown; prize, two pound box of candy.

Peanut race, girls under 16 years of age, Anna White, one pound box of candy.

Conductors' change counting contest, A. Wilkerson, Uniontown, amount $4.70, time, 21 seconds; prize, pair of gloves.

Motorman's braking contest, E. E. Hanes, Uniontown, prize, pair of gloves.

The second day's picnic for the night employees and the office forces will be held tomorrow. The cars will leave for the park at the same time as they departed yesterday. The first car will depart from Uniontown at 7:30; Connellsville, 8:00 and Dunbar at 8:10.

AUTO CLUB WANTS ROAD TAX SPENT IN THIS SECTION

County Commissioners are Urged to Give North End Fair Deal.

GOING AFTER BETTER HIGHWAYS

Board of Governors Send Letters as Directed at a Recent Meeting; Day County is Collecting Money in This Section and Doing Work Elsewhere.

That the road tax collected from this section by the county should be expended here is the plan of the Connellsville Auto Club, and letters have been sent both the county commissioners and the court asking that the northern end of the county be given more consideration in the future than it has met in the past. The letter to the court is merely supplementary to that which the commissioners will receive. Because of the interest shown in better roads on the part of the judges, especially Judge Embel, the auto club hopes to receive moral support in its campaign for better highways, 'probably along the line of a recommendation for better results on the part of township road supervisors.

At a recent meeting of the auto club members called attention to the fact that while Connellsville and Dunbar are each paying approximately $5,000 a year road tax, and other northern townships and boroughs in proportion, virtually none of this money has been spent in this section. The road building activity of the county, auto members claim, is confined to the territory south of Uniontown, and principally for the benefit of Uniontown and Brownsville.

The board of governors, at its meeting last night, approved the letters prepared by Secretary R. K. Long at the suggestion of the club. One was sent Senator W. D. Cross requesting that he use his influence to have a brick road built in Dunbar township by the State Highways Department instead of the asphaltic concrete composition.

Letters are being sent to the Council requesting that West Main street be paved from the end of the present paving to the borough line, a distance of about a hundred feet. The street is in bad shape and will have a break in the paving for about two squares, after the state road is built. Council will also be asked to have the water and gas companies consent to a proper condition.

Particular complaint is made of South Pittsburgh street, at the Colonial Theatre, where the paving is in miserable condition because it was not properly repaired after having been torn up by the public service companies. The condition of East Main street will also be pointed out.

The matter of a club run was discussed and approved. It will be put up to the members at the meeting of the club on August 20. Members of the board of governors who attended the meeting last night were President C. A. Hanson, R. K. Long, Harry Daint, John Work, J. L. Evans, Dr. C. S. Horner and G. E. Albrecht.

PETITIONS HELD UP

Party Nominations of Judges Must Await Ruling.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 13.—The petitions for nomination of judges on anything but non-partisan ballots will be held up by the State Department until an order is received from the attorney general. This is the position attained last night when inquiry was made if any petitions had been offered.

Numerous inquiries have come from various counties where judges are to be elected about the constitutionality of the non-partisan law, but the officials say that it is a subject for the courts to determine. All the petitions filed thus far have been on non-partisan nominations.

ELOPERS FIND NEW MECCA.

Cumberland Has Many in Hagerstown for Marriage Applications.

Cumberland, haven of Western Pennsylvania elopers, has a rival in Hagerstown, just across the border, since the new eugenic marriage law went into effect. Since the first of August scores of elopers from Pittsburgh and other places in the state near the southern border are migrating into Hagerstown to be married.

Many Pennsylvania lovers, according to license clerks and clergymen in Maryland, object to the answering of divers questions touching their sanity and physical fitness for marriage required by the new law, hence the little trip across the border.

Andrew Gettle Goes Up. Andrew Gettle of Lehigh, who is playing shortstop with the Berlin, Ont., Canadian League team, is said to be setting the league afire. Reports from Berlin are to the effect that Gettle has been purchased by the Kansas City team and will report there next season.

No Galley Reunion. There will be no reunion of the Galley family this year. The annual reunion last year held at the Galley farm near Dickinson Run, it was decided to meet every two years instead of yearly.

TURKEYFOOT SETTLERS TO HOLD REUNION NEXT MONTH

Descendants of Mountain Pioneers Will Assemble at the Jersey Settlement Church.

The annual reunion of descendants of the first settlers of the Turkeyfoot section and the annual meeting of the Jersey Settlement Historical Society will be held at the Jersey Church, near Confluence, on Saturday, September 6. An excellent program consisting of music, short addresses and papers relating to family and local history has been prepared. This will be a time of home coming for the people of the Turkeyfoot section. The location of the Jersey Church is an ideal spot for picnicking. The meeting house in which to assemble, the large grove affording abundant space for parking automobiles and hitching horses, and the many shady spots for spreading tables, make it a most enjoyable place for a big crowd to spend the day. Here was erected the first house of worship in Somerset county and the third west of the Allegheny mountains.

The meeting last year not only witnessed the assembling of the old and young of the entire neighborhood but descendants of early settlers and others came a distance of from 20 to 30 miles to meet upon having a good time.

The Turkeyfoot region embraces all that section of country that is drained by the Big Crossing and Casselman rivers, and the Laurel Hill creek, extending from Somerset on the north into Maryland and West Virginia on the south, and at last meeting a large portion of this territory was represented.

INSPECTS WEST PENN TEAM

First Aid Crew Makes Good Showing Before Red Cross Agent.

The first aid team of the West Penn was inspected last night by Dr. W. M. Lipscomb of Washington, field agent for the American Red Cross Society. Dr. Lipscomb is inspecting all of the teams entered in the first aid meet to be conducted at Oakford Park by the educational department of the State Y. M. C. A. on August 23. He was pleased with the showing made by the men.

The teams have been preparing for the competition for several months, and a strenuous effort will be made to carry off first prize. Teams from all over Western Pennsylvania have been entered, and it is predicted that the meet will be one of the hardest contested by the Y. M. C. A. in many years. Major Patterson of Washington will have supervision of the competitions.

MYSTERY IN GRANITE BALL

Cemetery Visitors Puzzled by Movement of a Monument.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 13.—In a massive granite monument which appeared to have been placed in the wrong place, the Marble Creek cemetery in Yellowfield township, furnishes a mystery which has many guesses.

The monument to John N. Nelson, is constructed of a reddish granite and stands about four and one-half feet high. The heavy base is surmounted by a granite ball weighing 1,100 pounds, resting in a concave socket.

Recently visitors to the cemetery got the impression that the big ball moved, as the roughened surface showed careful measurements made by stonemasons, furnished with the construction of the monument, show that the ball had revolved a few inches.

POLITICAL WIRES CROSSED

HARRISBURG, August 31.—The wires for appointments got crossed in Auditor General A. W. Powell's office yesterday.

At 6 o'clock Mr. Powell announced that he had received a list of appointments for the position of additional clerks to fill places created by his recent "firing" of men. He said he would do so later.

An hour later he made this statement: "I have received a list of appointments for the position of additional clerks to fill places created by his recent 'firing' of men. He said he would do so later."

The body was taken to Zimmerman's morgue in Mount Pleasant and buried in the cemetery here. Neslenovic was about 40 years old and had sent his family passage money a few weeks ago. He had been in this country for several years.

CONNELLVILLE IS AWARDED FIREMEN'S CONVENTION IN '14

Local Delegation Wins the Honor Without Opposition at Punxsutawney.

ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS

Attorney John Duggan, Jr., Makes Nominating Speech; No Other Towns Are Put Before the Convention; Election Today Unanimous.

Connellsville will entertain the 1914 convention of the Western Pennsylvania Volunteer Firemen's Association. This was assured at the Punxsutawney convention yesterday afternoon, when it was the only town nominated, and clinched today by a unanimous election.

Connellsville was put in nomination by Attorney John Duggan, Jr., who delivered an excellent address setting forth the advantages of this city as a convention town. The fact that it has most hotels to accommodate as many as 2,000 people carried considerable weight.

Word received from Punxsutawney today is that the appearance of the firemen and the Connellsville Military Band is attracting much attention. Newspapers there have commented favorably on the excellent showing of the Connellsville delegation, and the local firemen are elated. The soloists, Miss Lodith LaFaw and John Davis, are getting plenty of notices.

The delegation will probably return home tomorrow night. While the convention does not end until Friday, the most important business will be concluded by tomorrow afternoon.

The election of officers will be held today. Nominations were in order and resulted as follows:

William D. Akers of Mount Oliver, Iose Company had no opposition for the office of president. The other nominations were: Vice president, H. S. Haden, McKees Rocks; David M. Shuman, Punxsutawney; D. E. J. Hunsinger, East Pittsburgh; Alex. Jamison, Irwin; Paul Barthol, Widdaker; secretary, W. H. Sharr, Bradock; treasurer, James H. Steele, Villabona; delegate to State convention, Charles P. Fielder, picnic attendance, I. Q. McHenry, New Kensington; Quay R. Hewitt of Punxsutawney.

As soon as R. Q. McKenny of New Kensington was nominated for vice president he withdrew in favor of David M. Shuman. William H. Sharr, who has just closed his nineteenth year as secretary of the association, had no opposition, nor did Treasurer James H. Steele.

CAR FAMINE POSSIBLE

Railroads Appeal to Shippers and Receivers for Assistance.

A shortage in freight cars is threatened this fall, according to warnings sent out by the American Railway Association, and shippers throughout the country are appealing to shippers and receivers to assist in preventing a car famine. The shortage, it is said, will be due partly to the heavy crop.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie is directing an appeal to all its shippers and receivers to regulate, as far as possible, their inbound shipments so as to avoid an accumulation of loaded cars beyond the loading facilities. The appeal is being made to shippers and receivers to assist in preventing a car famine. The shortage, it is said, will be due partly to the heavy crop.

VIEW DAMS ON CHEAT

West Virginia Investigators Give Out No Report.

The West Virginia Public Service Commission has convened in Morgantown to investigate the condition of the Hydro-Electric Power Company, whose section of a dam was stopped with the appointment of a receiver for the American Water Works & Guarantee Company. The state officials viewed the partially finished State Line dam on Cheat river. Commissioner H. M. Ogden is in charge of the investigation, assisted by W. C. Kilmer and J. K. Anderson, chief engineer. C. H. Bronson is expected to arrive today when Beaver Hole dam in Cheat river and the Big Sandy river dam will be inspected.

No report of the work was given out. The hearing tomorrow will begin with arguments as to whether the company should construct locks in its dams. Friday the question of the dams' safety will be argued.

NOT COKE COMPANY.

It Was Another Frick Concern that Sold Threshing Machines.

The H. C. Frick Coke Company did not sell D. A. Nickle's threshing machine which resulted in a lawsuit and subsequent opinion delivered by Judge Van Swearingen yesterday. The plaintiff in the suit was the Frick Company of Westmoreland, but the court reporter drew another conclusion, with the consequence that the Courier inadvertently had the big coke concern dealing in farming machinery instead of the product that makes Connellsville famous.

Moore Brothers to Operate Two Cabs in the Near Future.

Another taxicab company is to enter the local field, for a long time without such service. The Moore brothers have placed their order for two regulation taxicabs which they will operate over town. Harry Moore for several years operated a public automobile, but gave up the job some months ago. He is to enter the field, once more.

Grimm Brothers of the West Side are now meeting riders at the three railroad stations, and doing good business. It is generally believed that there will be plenty of patronage for both concerns, and that the taxicab venture will prove profitable.

WATERY BLISTERS ON CHILD'S FACE

And Body. Itched So He Scratched and Made Sores. Burned Like Fire. Did Not Sleep Day or Night. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment Two Months. Trouble Went Away.

North Bend, Pa.—"When my child's trouble began his face broke out in watery blisters. If he scratched his face would get scales on it. We had to keep his hands tied up most of the time. The child's body broke out in watery blisters and itched so badly he could hardly stand it and he scratched it so that it made sores and burned like fire. He did not get sleep day or night. The only relief he got was when he was sitting on the floor and he would lay his face on the cold oil-cloth."

"We tried two treatments and we used remedial for eczema ever since the child was born, and nothing seemed to do him any good until we received a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I took the child and would wash him good with Cuticura Soap and then I would put the Cuticura Ointment on. I would leave the Ointment on about an hour then I would wash him off good with the Cuticura Soap. The trouble lasted about three years before we purchased more Cuticura Soap and Ointment and used them two months and it went away." (Signed) Mrs. Wm. Probst, Apr. 14, 1913.

Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 22-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

MEYERDALE.

MEYERDALE, Aug. 12.—Last night, for the third time within a space of less than two months, a set of harness belonging to John Waugaman was cut into bits. The first time this occurred Mr. Waugaman resided on Meyers avenue, and rented a barn located back of Main street, and for several nights prior to the time that his harness was cut the cow was milked and the milk carried away. For several nights Mr. Waugaman had a watchman in the barn to endeavor to catch the night murderer who had been milking his cow, but no one located the barn during the time the man was on guard, but on the morning following the night that the watchman was not on duty the cow was again milked and a set of double harness was cut into fragments. Shortly afterward more harness was cut, whereupon a pack of bloodhounds was secured from a party at Fairmont, W. Va., and placed upon the trail, but each time, by devils, routes the hounds rounded up at about the same spot at the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks, indicating, perhaps, that those who committed the depredation boarded a freight train at that particular point.

In the meantime Mr. Waugaman removed to a dwelling on the South Side, and was unmolested. It is said, until last evening when a new set of buggy harness was found cut to pieces, and it is supposed to have happened during the time the family were engaged in eating supper. Just what Mr. Waugaman intends doing is not known, but it is thought that the services of a competent detective will be secured in an effort to run down the perpetrator of these malicious deeds.

Everybody is wondering why Mr. Waugaman is singled out as the butt of all these offenses against him, as he is and always has been entirely inoffensive in his nature, honest and upright, and an all-around good citizen. He has served as county commissioner and made an exceptionally good official. Some time ago he removed to this place, formerly having resided on a farm in Northampton township. At present he is engaged in the work of erecting for himself a fine dwelling on a desirable parcel of ground secured by him on the South Side. The good citizens of the town are sorry that Mr. Waugaman is so badly treated as a newcomer in our town, and every effort will be made to secure the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who are responsible for the malicious work.

PINK LINES.

For the girl from eighteen to twenty, this chic little pink linen is especially suitable. Much of the design displays familiar lines but the touches of black proclaim its French origin and give an individual charm to its beauty. Much distinction is acquired also by the exquisite sprays of hand embroidery which decorate the blouse and skirt. The neck, closing edge of both blouse and skirt and bottom of the latter are finished in small hand embroidered scallops. There are little turn-back cuffs of black silk and giraffe with huge bow of the same. With this is worn a picturesque hat trimmed in roses and black velvet ribbon.

THE IRON POOLING.

Consolidation and combination in business, under government sanction in this country, are more and more being considered in England, where according to the Cleveland Iron Trade Review, a plan is afoot to form an international iron pooling agency.

Concerning this matter our contemporary says: "American iron markets, especially the Alabama district, are likely to become a greater source of international supply for the iron-rolling makers in the Middleboro, England, district to establish a central selling agency and to eliminate speculation in warlike prices." This is the opinion of the members of the English iron market both in this country and abroad. The plan of the English ironmasters, in which they are now persisting, despite the strong protests of the American ironmasters, is to form a central selling agency, and to eliminate speculation in warlike prices.

"If the plan finally prevails, the present indications are that it will be met by consumers and merchants with a new standard contract embracing all kinds of English iron and also American iron. In order to broaden the speculative field, it is probable that the English trade may import for store, large quantities of Southern iron from the United States. Some well-informed men in the trade believe that as much as 1,000,000 tons of Alabama iron may be required for this purpose. The final result would be the opening of an international market in pig iron and other products of the iron industry, and the result would be the opening of a new era in the iron trade."

The English proposition, though it includes only the cheaper Southern irons, is very interesting in the iron and coke trade of the country because of the fact that it promises to open a market for our surplus products, something from which the American pig iron business frequently suffers. In fact, nothing which seems to afflict it right now. It lies within the power of American furnaces, to make a market for their surplus, and a multitude of interests it is difficult to procure the wise exercise of that power, hence, the English proposition, such as the English export plan will be welcome, certainly as long as they absorb our surplus iron.

When the iron comes back to supply a shortage here, and incidentally to prevent boom prices, furnaces may not like the operation of the international agency as well, yet it must be admitted that as a general proposition both the iron and the coke business is best served by stable and reasonable prices.

The international agency plan was perhaps suggested or encouraged by the prospect of the removal of the American duty on iron. Under existing tariff conditions the plan would not be very practicable for the exportation of English iron to America, but such importations are not so interfering to American furnaces and Connelville coke producers as this export business would be.

In the meantime, and quite irrelevantly perhaps, it is interesting to note that as furnace stocks go out iron prices go up.

ORGANIZED CHARITY.

The blind beggar who proved to be an earnest and better sight than some of the beggars who are a charity bureau at the City Hall for (1) the systematic relief of all deserving poor, and (2) the protection of the public against the importunities of the undeserving.

The Chamber of Commerce once undertook this public duty through a special committee, but in time the work was turned over to the Salvation Army. The latter has done excellent service in this behalf, but it is evident that the proper solution of the problem, particularly the second proposition, properly lies in stronger hands.

Beginning should be prohibited absolutely. Applications for assistance should be presented to the authorities and should by them be given careful investigation and prompt consideration. Our charity should be liberal but just, and good citizens should be guarded against annoyance and imposition.

PARTY ENROLLMENT.

All voters, and particularly those residing in the boroughs and townships, must give special heed to the new party enrollment act if they desire to vote in all contests at the primary election, September 18.

Under the new law a voter is asked, when registered, to what political party he belongs. If he refuses to give information, so that it can be recorded on the registry list, he will not be allowed to vote at the primary election for candidates for any of the party nominations. He will only have the right to vote for candidates for non-partisan bodies, namely, judges, candidates for the judiciary and, in Connelville, candidates for city officers.

to the certificate must be witnessed by at least one person. In order to be enrolled the voter must place the certificate in the possession of the registry assessor not later than September 2.

POLITICAL ADVERTISING.

The paucity of political advertising in the primary campaign this fall indicates either that the candidates are few, or that they are uncertain; possibly both.

The value of newspaper advertising as the first aid of political campaigning has been too thoroughly demonstrated, and is too well understood, to admit of the supposition that it has been abandoned at the moment of its greatest popularity. When the houses were presumed to dictate all nominations, candidates advertised with great liberality and good result.

But the houses have been disposed; party riding has been barred; ballot fixing under the guise of assistance has been abolished; the primaries are free for all; and even the ballot for choice of officers is non-partisan.

Under such conditions political advertising ought to be more popular than ever.

The character of the Connelville Chautauqua does not seem to be fully understood by some people and the explanations which have been made are timely. The Chautauqua is something worth while. It is neither a cheap show nor a lecture course. It is not a vaudeville entertainment nor a concert; it is a variety of clean and attractive entertainment, musical and otherwise. It is not only good but cheap, and those who patronize it will be ready to do so again.

The Town Council is starting out rather negatively, but perhaps it is just as well.

The Street Committee has been looking that Connelville gift horse, Willis bridge, in the mouth; but it will now have to keep the bridge and keep it in repair, and in such cases there is nothing like keeping right at it until the job is completed.

Connellville gets the State Firmament Convention without the aid or consent of Uniontown.

The Uniontown Low Water Mark says The Courier is "raving" about the Convention. Our contention is that only newspaper around this neck of woods that has recently shown any excitement over circulation matters. Arrange that the howling over of one little high-water claim should cease it up.

The taxpayers of Connelville and the Young region object to taxation without compensation.

The Sterling reunion at Masontown discloses one of the secrets of the strength of the Barefoot Boy Combination in Fayette county.

The wife of the Vice President of the United States thinks the way women dress these days is convincing evidence of their untutored taste. She evidently thinks the clothes make the woman, and perhaps she is just a bit apprehensive that the Suffragists might want to nub the Vice President some day.

Buffalo Bill is reported to be humbly embarrassed. Does this mean another farewell tour?

While the Democratic Congress is busy with the redoubtable work of destroying protection to home industry, it is announced that another foreigner is coming over here to speak on the Chautauqua platform. The fearless leader's chickens are coming home to roost.

Mother Jones is in Michigan. She always strikes out when she hears of a strike.

The Connelville Notes is moved to remark that voters and candidates for matrimony are so hedged about with pool questions that now that this no longer looks like a free country. This is not Progressive talk.

The ear of the corn is in demand just now.

Monitor Quillinger of New Hampshire proposes a Referendum on the Democratic Tariff bill. The Democrats will refuse it at the cost of their consistency. The Referendum is a part of the New Democracy.

The teeth of the Tammany Tiger are still sharp.

The independent trolley company building a line through Washington county, from West Brownsville to different coal and coke villages, is preparing a connecting link for the West Penn system.

That the Connelville School Board was not precipitate in providing the Municipal League with free headquarters in the High School building is not strange under the circumstances. However, the action of the board will be generally commended. An earnest uplift movement ought to have enough push to it to pay half rent.

Hold-ups on Water street and the bridge are getting too common. An extra effort ought to be made to break up the gangs operating there.

The worthy Town Clerk knows all the rules of the game when it comes to extra and regular sessions of the Town Council and the minutes thereof.

Colonel Gregg Lowellyn is holding his own with a grip that is the admiration of his Fayette county constituents.

It was Blue Monday for Mount Pleasant.

The H. C. Frick Coke Company will perhaps be able to prove an alibi on the charge of selling threatening machines. This company sells nothing but coke, and it has but one customer.

The Grasshopper.

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Go Old Siwash."

The grasshopper is an amiable insect who uses the world as a summer resort and is one of the most prominent members of our leisure class.

He consists of legs and appetite in equal parts. In both respects he is unequalled. A grasshopper can jump fifty times his own length. However, as he usually jumps back on the second jump and sideways on the third, this doesn't do him any particular good.

When the grasshopper isn't hopping he is eating. Nature has fitted the hopper with an appetite so much larger than he is that in order to keep from starving to death he has to eat until he dies of exhaustion. He isn't particular about food. Anything that has been planted by a farmer and which would bring a good market price if he didn't eat it all is good enough for a grasshopper. Nothing makes the bones of the soil so disengaged with nature as to watch a grasshopper eat up a stalk of corn and then use up the energy thus formed in hopping backward and forward without a compass or steering gear.

The grasshopper wouldn't be so fond if he didn't have the convention habit. Every grasshopper belongs to a lodge, and early in the summer every lodge holds a convention. The program of the convention consists of breakfast, lunch, dinner and supper, and the meals overlap. After a farmer has entertained a national convention of the Amalgamated Hoppers of Calaveras county, he has to begin life over again with a corn planter, half a mile of bluffed fence posts and a quarter section of crops eaten down to the roots.

Thereafter, when the said farmer discusses the grasshopper he has to put on a water-jacket to keep from overheating.

"Consists of legs and appetite in equal parts."

The grasshopper leads a gay life and does not work. He is neat and stylish in appearance and graceful in deportment. If it wasn't so hard to support him he might be popular. So might his relatives at Newport and other refuges from industry.

Manufacturers are absolutely dependent on retailers for the consumer sale of their goods. Retailers, in turn, have the manufactured products—and must have consumers to use them. Manufacturer, retailer and consumer are three links in the golden chain of commerce that circles the world. The retailer finds his most efficient and most economical short-cut to the consumer through advertising in the daily newspaper. Retailers are ready to push these nationally distributed products advertised in their home newspapers—because the demand is made right here at home. Manufacturer and retailer linked together in a definite newspaper campaign form a team that secures new records on the sales of their goods. Retailers are urged to impress on manufacturers the advantage of co-operative advertising in papers like THE COURIER. Merchants and manufacturers interested in local advertising for nationally distributed articles are invited to write to the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers' Association, World Building, New York.

IF YOU WANT

Anything, Have Anything for Sale or Rent, Try Our Classified Ads at One Cent a Word. They Bring the Results.

Something Different

To the woman who wants a fall suit different from the ordinary suit—different in the little touches that go so far towards making a suit distinctive for the individual—we offer a selection now that is worth seeing. Hardly two alike in the entire collection. Styles and materials and even colors that are specially marked for this fall's wearing—and priced at $25 to $40.00.

The showing at these prices just now will interest you, and whether you intend to buy now or later, here or elsewhere, we'll be more than glad to have your opinion of these suits. One thing we do know, and that is, that the values we are showing at these prices is going to mean a bigger suit business at this store than ever before, and if you are going to buy a suit this coming fall, you owe it to your pocketbook to see this showing. If you want to make your selection now, a reasonable deposit will hold the suit until you want it.

Carpets and Rugs for Fall

The average buyer of these depends upon the merchant for quality. If you are a stranger to this store, ask your neighbor about the kind of carpets we have here. You might ask also how they are made and laid. You won't have to ask more than once to find out all about this department. Time is the best test of a carpet, and a very little more in the price may mean a good while more in added service that you get from the carpet. The carpets we have sold in years past are helping us to sell carpets now, and we expect the carpets we are selling now to help us sell in the years that are to follow. Glad to show you the new patterns for the coming fall.

Childrens' and Misses' Dresses

At one-half prices. Colored lawns and dimities in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. At half price this means that you are paying just about the price of the material for a ready-to-wear dress. A good quantity, to select from now.

Butterick Patterns for September and Butterick Publications will be here on August 14th. You know Butterick's.

MYSTERY IN EXPLOSION

Victims Badly Burned, Yet No Traces of Fire are Found by Probers.

TOWER CITY, Pa., Aug. 13.—The first day's session of the coroner's jury added to the mystery surrounding the death of the 20 men killed in the East Brookfield mine explosion on August 2, and adjournment was taken until next Monday and an invitation extended to any who may know anything which will help solve the mystery to be present in the afternoon.

Although most of the victims were so terribly burned that the flesh came from their bodies there was not a sign of fire in the mines which would have been present in a gas explosion.
Even the clothing of the men were not burned, although it was torn from their bodies.

It now seems as though no one was killed in the first explosion and that from three different sections men were rushing to find the cause of it when they were killed in the second explosion. The lid was torn off the box in which the dynamite was kept, but the dynamite was not exploded.

Mine inspectors, mine foremen and practical miners confess that they never encountered anything like it.

CLERGYMAN KIDNAPED

Canon-burger in Washington Abduc-

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Rev. C.
Albert Thomas, a young Episcopal clergyman of Canonburg, Pa., was in the custody of St. Mark's Church yesterday, where he is a summer supply, when a strange man in a taxicab explained, bundled him into a taxicab and rushed him away. Later he realized that he had been kidnapped to the Capitol of the United States, introduced to the Vice President and had opened a session of the Senate with prayer.

Chaplain Prettyman forgot the Senate was meeting at 11 o'clock yesterday instead of noon and Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms McGrath had just 12 minutes to scare up a preacher.

W. A. Hughes was a business caller in Connelville on Tuesday.

An Advance Collection of

New Fall Suits

That Will Interest Women

So many women who go vacationing at this time, like to take with them new suits of the styles that will reign in the Fall.

As a source and a center of authentic fashions in Connellsville, it is this store's pleasure to have ready now for such women, an interesting advance showing of the suits of styles-to-be.

These Forerunners of Assured Fashion

Come from style authorities of unquestioned reputation—from the makers to whom the best American stores look for their distinctive suits.

It's going to be season of many and magnificent materials—for we already have new suits of cheviot, cut velvet, zibeline, boucle, eponge, wool poplin and the ever-fashionable serge.

And the styles—how smart and dressy they are—notably these long 36 and 38 inch corsets that are long in front and gracefully cut away and lengthened in back. Even the simplest tailored models have an unusual amount of dressiness about them—not to speak of those with their rich, fancy collars and cuffs. Draped and semi-draped skirts are in vogue.

Brick-red is a new color that appears among the fall suits, also Havana browns, dignified taupes, rich wistarias, Copenhagen, navys and black.

We'll be pleased to show them whether you're an intending vacationist or a stay-at-home—in either case, there's quite a lot of satisfaction in appearing first in the styles most women will wear later on.

We wish to call your attention to our line of Luxury Suits at $18.75
Also our splendid $25.00 suits. and up to $90.00.

HON. JOSEPH W. FOLK.

HON. JOSEPH W. FOLK is too well known to really need any mention here, and his coming to this city will be a notable event in the history of this community. The recall of all the reforms he inaugurated while he held office in Missouri would of themselves more than fill this page. Governor Folk is regarded as the pioneer in the great modern fight against graft which is now going on everywhere both in the state and the nation. As governor he put an end to boodling in legislative affairs. He abolished the practice of legislators and officials riding on free passes. He procured the passage of an act after a hard legislative fight repealing race track laws whereby gambling was legalized and put the most powerful and insolent race track syndicate in the world out of business. He stamped out grafters in the police departments, he appointed men of the highest character to all positions of public trust, closed the gambling dives in St. Louis and enforced the law closing saloons on Sunday in the face of intense opposition and denunciation. Governor Folk is still carrying the banner for purity in politics. Freedom from office-holding has but given him more time to fight the good fight. Whereas St. Louis was his battlefield, then Missouri, it is now a national issue, and Folk of Missouri is spreading a new civic gospel which reaches back to Calvary and the Golden Rule and is spreading from the Empire State to California, is bearing good fruit on the bloody ground of Kentucky and raising new standards in Louisiana.

RURAL SCHOOLS
TO BE HONOREDTo Have the First Place at Next International Congress.

THE PROBLEMS ARE COMPLEX

Educators Will Meet in Buffalo Aug.
25 to 30 to Discuss School Hygiene.
"Little Red Schoolhouse" and How to Improve It Will Be Chief Theme.

The "little red schoolhouse" is to occupy a place of honor on the program of the Fourth International Congress on school hygiene, which will meet in Buffalo from Aug. 25 to Aug. 30, according to a statement issued by the program committee, which is composed of Dr. Robert W. Lovett and David L. Madsen of Harvard, Dr. Luther H. Gulick of New York and Dr. Thomas A. Stoney of the College of the City of New York, secretary general of the congress.

"The problems of the city schools have received a great deal of much deserved attention," say the members of the committee in their announcement of the program. "The very serious problems of the village school and of the rural school have received but little attention. The study and the solution of these problems are of extreme complexity and importance. The committee is therefore anxious to secure papers relating to rural school hygiene and village school hygiene as well as to the city school hygiene."

Dr. Clinton's Report.

In a report issued at Washington United States Commissioner of Education Philander P. Clanton calls attention to the subject of the little red school in the following terms:

"Until very recently few careful studies of the rural school have been made, and we yet have little accurate information about them and little knowledge of the factors entering into the problem of their improvement. We do know in a general way that their terms are short, their support inadequate, their teachers poorly prepared, their attendance irregular, their management haphazard and wasteful of money, time and energy; their curriculum ill adapted to their needs and the houses in which the children are taught cheap and poorly equipped and furnished. That this is not true of all rural schools goes without saying, but it is unfortunately true in a large measure of most of them."

In all there are some 212,000 one-room little red schoolhouses in the United States alone, according to the Washington report, prepared by A. C. Macmillan. In this report there is a picture of a one teacher rural schoolhouse which is characterized as "a little type of about one-half of the 212,000 one teacher rural schools." Most of the original red paint seems to have been washed off these schools.

An Erroneous Impression.

"A general impression has been created among the American people that the rural school is a simple affair, which is sufficient and nation wide, with equal educational opportunities in all parts of the country. The impression is erroneous. It is probably true that the public schools, both urban and rural, have made considerable progress, but the greatest progress has been confined almost wholly to the city and town. The majority of rural schools are housed in uncomfortable buildings, unsuitable from every standpoint, without proper furniture or facilities for heating, ventilating and lighting; without adequate provisions for guarding the health and morals of the children and with comparatively little equipment for teaching."

Dr. Fletcher H. Drexler, school hygiene specialist in the bureau of education, who is chairman of the committee on village exhibit at the fourth international congress, has recently been making a special study of the rural school buildings and grounds. "The result of his investigation, which is to be published in a special bulletin, will be called to the attention of the delegates at Buffalo. Dr. Drexler found that, although there is great need for reform, nevertheless the indications at the present time point toward a marked improvement in the rural school building, ground and equipment."

WALKER CURRENCY PLAN
SUBMITTED TO WILSON.Well Known Editor Offers Substitute
For Complex Currency Systems.

John Brisbane Walker, formerly chairman of the Colorado state monetary commission and whose reputation as editor and publisher is nation wide in character, has submitted a plan dealing with the currency problem to President Wilson which is far simpler than any of the many hitherto offered to the administration for consideration. In a letter to the president, under date of July 26, 1913, now made public for the first time, Mr. Walker points out that the plan was previously presented as a substitute for the Aldrich bill in 1911. He adds that it would be "certain in its operation, quick of action, inflexible and requiring no political skill."

Here is the plan as embodied in Mr. Walker's letter to President Wilson: "First—Subject all commercial paper accepted by the banks to a double inspection, first by the government and then by the clearing house, and stamp 'O. K.' if so found. "Second—Permit any banker who finds danger of unexpected withdrawal to go to the nearest subtreasury—subtreasuries to be established at convenient points throughout the country—and upon presentation of his inspected and stamped commercial paper obtain from the government currency amounting to 50 per cent of the face value of the paper so presented. "The banker's visit need not be known to the public, his right to the currency could not be questioned, there would be no political influence required, and the government's security would be absolute. A high rate of interest would prevent undue inflation. "This plan appeals to you I will be glad to send a report prepared upon the subject while acting as chairman of the Colorado state monetary commission. But if it seems to you obscure or unworkable I will feel obliged if you will so state in your answer, that I may be able to lay stress upon any points which may seem weak or doubtful."

WOMAN IS GAME WARDEN.

Mrs. Gibney of Alabama Not Afraid to Arrest Lawbreakers.

Mrs. Norma F. Gibney of Alabama, Ala., is the only woman game warden in the United States. Living near Mobile bay, she has always been fond of outdoor life and is expert in the use of the rifle and shotgun. Her friends were not surprised when Governor O'Neal appointed her a state game warden, which gives her authority to make arrests. Speaking of her new place, she said:

"While I am not fond of publicity about most of my affairs, I am not averse to having it known that I am deeply in earnest about protecting the birds. I have been shocked to find how rapidly the birds are disappearing right here in my own neighborhood. "I wanted to do something to stop the wanton slaughter, and if possible, give them an opportunity to come back to their old haunts. An ardent sportsman, a friend of mine, suggested that I could do this most effectively by being appointed a game warden. "Having ample leisure and a good middle horse, I decided that I would do what I could if appointed to stop the pothunters and the game hogs from slaughtering our birds. I have made two arrests already and am ready to make more if it is necessary."

SCIENTISTS SEEK NEW GAS.

A New Ballooning Era Foreseen if Search is Successful.

Leading London scientists, including Sir William Ramsay, are making an endeavor to produce on earth the new gas coronium, the weight of which is one sixteenth that of hydrogen, whose presence in the sun was definitely established at the time of the last eclipse. "The successful production of coronium would revolutionize the science of aerostatics. The new gas would take the place of hydrogen in balloons, according to scientists."

Educating the Heavens.

"Brother Hardisty, can't you make your contribution for the education of the heavens a little larger than usual this year?"

"Dr. Goodman, I'm more than doubting it. I have just started that youngest boy of mine to college."

Woman's World

Mrs. John Jacob Astor's
Private Beauty Parlor.

MRS. JOHN JACOB ASTOR.

The beautiful young widow of the late John Jacob Astor, who lost his life in the Titanic disaster, evidently has much faith in the old proverb, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," for she has established in her palatial home on Fifth avenue, New York city, one of the most expensively equipped beauty parlors in the world.

She believes in taking time by the forelock, as it were, and intends wisely to keep herself always young and lovely. In this wonderful parlor can be found all kinds of electric apparatus, instruments including an "applicator" of great rapidity for the arms and an exquisitely delicate buzzer for the cheeks. A certain powder is placed on this buzzer, which is then rubbed electrically into the skin giving it a peachy glow that can't be detected from the rest of the face.

The last thing in hair driers is another accessory of the beauty parlor. Press one button and there comes a draught of cold air. Press another and you get a blast of hot air that any politician would envy. There are two aseptic cabinets for the sterilization of instruments, towels, etc. But all these adjuncts to beauty cost enormous sums; face powder alone used by this scientific young matron is said to retail at $8 for a few thin-bluffs. "Then there must be hair dressers, manicurers, complexion correctors, chiropodists, dentists, masseurs and maids of all degrees in attendance. The woman who wants to look as if she "belonged" must have at least one of each of these treatments a day."

Women on Governing Boards.

Conceding woman's availability for state boards of control Mrs. Alvin J. Frisby, who served seven years as a member of the Wisconsin board, says:

"It ought to be obvious to any fair minded person that the governing board of institutions whose inmates are largely women and children should have women members. The humanitarian side of the work appeals to a woman, while the interest of the male members of the board, I found, was almost entirely confined to the plants and the business connected with the institutions, which is not surprising, as that is the man's chief responsibility in the home."

"Of the eleven men who were members of the board (thanks to politics) during the seven years that I was a member only two or three took any interest in the internal working of the institutions or showed any efficiency in the work of inspection, which seemed to me a very important part of the work of the board. Certainly the welfare and happiness of the inmates depend quite as much on cleanliness, properly cooked food and kind treatment as upon fine buildings, efficient heating plants and good farms, important as the latter unquestionably are."

To Encourage the Feminist Movement.

A Sicilian widower of the name of Clement, who died recently, left $10,000 to promote the feminist movement in Italy and $4,000 as a legacy to the first woman deputy.

A MOVEMENT IN SCALPS.

One of Them, Though, For Good Reason, Was Firmly Fixed.

One day when Professor Powell was hearing the class in anatomy he was describing the manner in which the various muscles of the scalp perform their several functions, says ex-Governor Theodore T. Geer, recipient of his school days in "Fifty Years in Oregon." To make the subject clearer the professor told the members of the class to move their scalps by aid of the muscles without moving the head and proceeded to lead the way by giving a personal demonstration.

He had a shaggy head of hair and could turn his scalp almost halfway round his head. The success that attended his unaided effort was so astonishingly complete that it brought forth a roar of laughter, in which the professor heartily joined, although his mouth was where his right eye usually was and his ears were under his chin.

When order was finally restored each member of the class tried it, with varying degrees of success. But Tom Nihilin's effort was a hopeless failure, although his superhuman attempts to move his scalp were as laughable as Professor Powell's grotesque success had been. Finally, after the poor fellow had made all the oblique grimaces the class could endure, the professor said:

"Thomas, what is the matter with your head?"

"I don't know, sir," replied Tom, "unless I am the only one in the room whose head is so full of brains that they crowd his scalp."

SLEEP OF THE ELEPHANT.

What Little There Is Seems, as a Rule, to Be Taken Standing.

It is doubted whether, in the wild state, elephants ever lie down. Gordon Cumming thought he had found evidence in marks upon the ground that the adult bulls did stretch themselves out at full length for a few hours' rest at about midnight, but he contended that the young and the cows always remained on their feet.

Another authority, Selous, has expressed doubt whether even the old bulls lie down. He tells of one herd that was known to have kept moving and feeding throughout the twenty-four hours. "Except when rolling in mud and water," he says, "it is likely that an African elephant never lies down during his whole life."

However this may be, the most complete authority seems to agree that this animal sleeps less and more lightly than any other. J. L. Kipping, the father of the writer, estimated the period of slumber taken standing up to average about four hours in the twenty-four, and this estimate has been employed by the son in an amusing passage for one of his stories, "Moti Gaj," wherein the sleep of the elephant is represented as consisting of an hour's dozing on one side and a similar period's dozing on the other, followed throughout the rest of the night "by long, low, rumbling soliloquies."—Harper's Weekly.

Big Timber of Guiana.

The greenheart of British Guiana is one of the most remarkable and useful trees in the world. Of the three varieties—yellow, black and mahogany—all are durable if cut at maturity and grow to such dimensions that logs can be had from eighteen to twenty-four inches square and seventy feet long. Greenheart is one of the eight woods esteemed as first class by the Lloyd's, and admirable keelsons, piles and other ship timber, as well as submerged piling, dock gates, etc., are made from it. Owing to the great demand for the timbers and the reckless destruction of trees, the government has put a ban on cutting any which will not produce timbers eleven inches square.—Boston Globe.

Ballooning a Bonanza.

"Is it true that you farmers are hostile to balloonists?" ventured the young aeronaut who had descended in the breezy.

"Why, no, stranger," laughed the old farmer as he came forward with a pitchfork. "We are always glad to have a balloon land on our place."

"I'm certainly glad to hear it."

"Yes, the last one that landed here came in handy. I used the ropes to tie the steers, packed corn in the basket and cut the gas bag up and made overalls for all the farm hands. Welcome, stranger, welcome!"—Chicago News.

FEEDS THE BRUTES.

London's Restaurant That Caters to Domestic Animals Only.

One of the most interesting restaurants in the world is one in which the only diners are domestic animals. The restaurant is in Westminster, London. The sign on the window reads: RESTAURANT FOR DOMESTIC ANIMALS. ENGLISH MEAT ONLY. FRESH.

The restaurant is arranged so that the domestic animals which patronize it may be perfectly comfortable while they are getting their meals. Those that wish to do so may sit down while the others are very fond of animals and know the wants of each particular customer. One of the regular callers at the restaurant, a dog, prefers having his meals in private, so instead of eating his luncheon in the restaurant he walks from his home to the place every day, buys his luncheon and carries it home. He pays his own bill at the end of each week, carrying the money tied in a little wallet around his neck. Cats, canary birds, goldfish, parrots, monkeys, squirrels and goats are also provided for in the restaurant. There is a branch of the establishment at 123 York road, Battersea.—New York Herald.

MENDICANTS USE AUTO.

Blind Man and Wife Are Alms Seekers
de Luxe.

A blind man and his wife sitting helplessly in a broken down motorcar near Wamego, Kan., attracted the attention and aroused the sympathy of L. A. Phillips and Guy Holmes. Holmes and Phillips are in the service department of a Kansas City automobile company, and they travel about the country repairing cars. They spent two hours working on the blind man's car and sent it away in good shape, the wife driving. In Wamego the "good Samaritans" explained their delay in arriving.

"Yes," said a resident, "that couple travels in a motorcar. They are beggars de luxe. The man fiddles, and the woman sings. It's a business with them, and they are working the towns of western Kansas. When they approach a town they hide the car in the woods until they clean up, and then they speed away to the next town."

An Effective President.

"Boss!" said Mr. Nervvop after Mrs. Nervvop had expressed the wish that a woman might be president of the United States for just one week.

"What could she do?"

"What could she do?" retorted the lady. "I tell you this, James, that if I could get into the White House with a couple of good Swedes to help me I'd do more in a minute than any president we've had in twenty years with both houses of congress and his cabinet behind him!"—Harper's.

His Preference.

"Oh, for the wings of a dove!" cried the poet with the unbarbered hair. "Order what you like," answered the pragmatic person, with a clean shave, "but tell the waiter to bring me the breast of a chicken!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ORPHANS IN AUSTRALIA.

They Are All Wards of the State and Carefully Protected.

There are no orphans in Australia. That is not because parents never die there, but because when they do the state at once steps in to the rescue of their little ones. Children who have been robbed by death of their natural protectors are practically adopted by the government.

Unless some near relative manifests a desire to assume the responsibility and can demonstrate his ability to do so the child is committed to the children's council, which selects some home among the farmers of the country. These foster homes are examined closely, and often two or three are tried before one is found in which the child finds congenial surroundings.

After thirteen the state feels that its ward should earn more than board and lodging. At that age, therefore, he is hired out, usually, however, to the foster parent, who have been previously taking care of him. Three-fourths of his wages are deposited in savings banks; the remainder is his. When he becomes of age or if he wishes money in order to learn a trade or to attend a more advanced school—or, in the case of a girl, when she wishes to marry—the savings are turned over to the ward.—New York World.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Baseball fans of Chicago are today preparing to register their opinion on the question of good English or slang in the game of ball between the Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies.

It is said that pre-election sentiment favors slang about three to one.
